blatant business. Christmas cards are being sent to the front by the millions, placed mostly in the automobiles for postal delivery. It is stated flatly that the usual practice is in order to give American wholesale dealers an opportunity to place their orders for the Christmas gift of a seasonal suit and become virtually valueless unless delivered immediately. However, the freight charges are so high that it is not profitable when the orders for the goods were placed, prevents such a delivery.

American dentists who constitute one of the largest groups of businessmen among the Americans in Europe are also suffering under the war situation. This is not on account of any anti-American feeling, and also the dentists depend for their services but they are unable to get dental supplies and artificial teeth from America.

From the lighter side, the order in Germany is to wear uniforms with only supplies of cloth hats and rubbers are being exhausted rapidly and ardent Goelers are organizing Greenland expeditions to get their own fur suit supplies in America.

THE HUNGARIAN JOURNAL, OFFICIAL LEADER WORK
Rome, Aug. 28 (via Paris, Aug. 29, 12:30 p.m.)—The Italian official statement was given out tonight by the Italian war office:

"Retards of our success in the Strina valley show that the enemy failed to set the bomb, leaving in our hands an great quantity of machine guns, ammunition and sixteen cases of bombs. An important force of the enemy at Saccarant and Pozzi Alai suffered heavily, some guns being destroyed and three containing bombs transferred to other positions outside the defense works from where they will reply to our fire.

"The enemy continued yesterday an attack on the Italian positions in the Bogosia region, doing little damage, and tried to attack in force our positions at Seikelt in the valley of Monte Fiano, north of Mistranta and Seikelt, West of Montefiore and Campitelli. But all everywhere were repulsed."

Line Against Tuberculosis

In the May 23, 1912, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association appeared this statement concerning calcolum (Line) medication in the treatment of tuberculosis.

"Under the systematic, continued and persistent regime of calcolum instillation, a patient feels a return of his capacity to breathe. The sputum clears up of tubercle bacilli, which finally disappear, and the patient is discharged with healed tuberculous lungs."

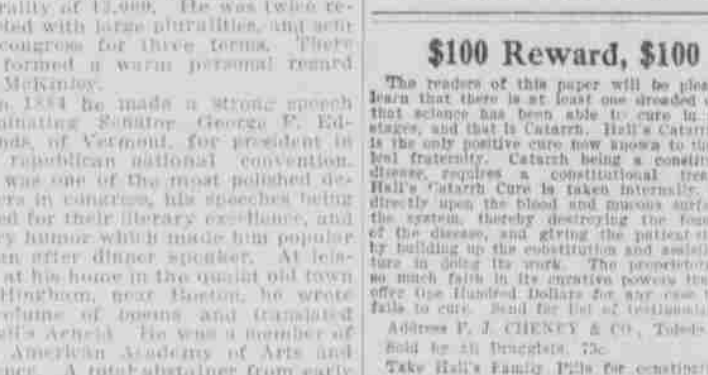

Critical journals seldom speak so positively about a remedial agent, yet this testimony coincides with that from many physicians who have used calcolum and written through the use of Eckman's Alternative.

Since calcolum is a constituent of this remedy, its healing power may be due to this one substance, or an equilibrium with other valuable ingredients may be to unity estimated.

Eckman's Alternative contains no opiates, stimulants or habit-forming drugs, so it is safe for use.
